

Calaveras Pet of the Week

Meet Chester, special needs Heeler mix senior very much in need of a good human.

Came to the shelter as a stray. After vet visit, found he had glaucoma. Medications helped for short time, soon he would not leave his kennel and was in obvious pain. The compassionate decision was made to remove his eyes.

In foster care with a wonderful couple, learned to navigate around their home and property. Mostly quiet. Neutral toward other dogs. As he healed, became interested in short walks. Enjoys car rides but mostly to be by your side.

Best chance at happiness would be calm household with someone attuned to his comfort level, a special someone who could provide reassurance and patience, without young children, small dogs/cats would be best. Can you open your heart to a companion to live out his remaining years in peace?
